

12th FAERE annual Conference 4-5 September 2025 Nantes

The lab LEMNA is delighted to host the 12th Annual Conference of the French Association of Environmental and Resource Economists. The conference will take place at the IAE of Nantes, Erdre Building, on September 4–5, 2025.

The aim of FAERE annual conferences is to foster the production and dissemination of research in environmental economics. Contributions are welcome from both theoretical and applied perspectives, covering topics that include – but are not limited to – food systems, maritime issues, energy, transportation, climate, and biodiversity. A special issue will be published in Revue Economique.

Plenary sessions

Nicolas Treich (Research Director at TSE, INRAE) will present his work in economics on food and animal welfare.

The Maritime Chair will be involved in organizing a round table discussion on offshore wind turbines
